

“Thanks to
my doctors,
life is good!”

– MATT NEVILLE, NORTH ADAMS

During a routine physical at age 49, my doctor asked if I was ready for my colonoscopy. Although I didn't have a family history, I decided to get the test. Dr. Chi Zhang did the colonoscopy, and the news wasn't good; he found cancer. I had surgery in Boston, where they removed part of my colon, then I returned to NARH for a follow-up colonoscopy. Dr. Zhang called with the results at 9:30 at night, while I was on the deck with my family. He said the words I wanted to hear: "you're cancer free." I was thrilled.

I have never had a bad experience at NARH, and Dr. Zhang is more proof of the great things going on there. I'm lucky to have caught my cancer early...and I'm lucky to have had a careful, caring physician like Dr. Zhang.
